● ABOUT ME

I am Dawit Dibekulu Alem, currently Assistant Professor of English Literature at Bahir Dar University. Former asst prof at Mekdela Amba University, College of Social Sciences and Humanities, Department of English Language and Literature. I have finished my BA studies in English Language and Literature at Woldia University, and then I accomplished my MA studies in TEFL at Debre Markos University in Debre Markos Ethiopia. I secure my PhD from Bahir Dar University. I am a member of the Reviewer Board for some international journals and Dr. Dawit is a member of the Reviewer Board for several international journals, including the International Journal of Psychology and Counselling, International Journal of Learning, Teaching, and Educational Research, African Educational Research Journal, Journal of Engineering Research and Reports, International Research Journals, and International Journal of English and Literature. I am also a Review Board Member of ACTA Scientific Computer Sciences and an Editorial Board Member of PLOS ONE. My research interests span a wide range of areas, including language assessment, literature, comparative literature, psychoanalysis, cultural studies, language-learning strategies, Computer-Assisted Language Learning (CALL), material development, psychology, educational psychology, curriculum and syllabus design, and other language-related domains. I have published numerous articles in both domestic and international journals and has presented papers at various conferences.
